GOAL OF 1,500 MEMBERSHIP IS SET BY CLUB

Rod and Gun Members Vote to Launch Huge Program of Conservation

A move to launch the greatest conservation program ever planned for Northern Illinois got under way last night with the election of officers for the Antioch Rod and Gun Club, and the consideration of plans to increase the initial membership of 100 to 1500, including practically all sportsmen and land owners in the region.

The 65 representatives present at the organization meeting last night in Danish Hall elected Robert E. Mann, president; Ben R. Burke, 1st vice president; Coach R. H. Childers, 2nd vice president; and Dr. D. N. Deering, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Deering, contacting leading sportsmen of the region during the last several weeks, declares that they unanimously agree that there is urgent and immediate need for steps to be taken to preserve the wild life of the area and to make regular stocking of lakes and streams with fish.

Co-operating with State

The club aims to assist the state department of conservation in every way possible, and it in turn will seek the aid of the state and federal departments in providing an abundance of game and fish for the area.

"It is the plan of the club to become a representative body catering to the needs of sportsmen, boaters, fishermen and hunters, and to co-operate with the department of conservation," President Mann said today.

Farmers and landowners will be given free memberships, the newly elected officers said. Others will be assessed a fee of fifty cents a year. "Farmers and landowners do their part in conservation by providing feeding grounds and shelters for wild life," Mann explained, hence the free membership.

The membership of the club will not be limited and all residents of the community are urged to become members. Any of the officers will accept applications and supply membership cards.

The next meeting will be held on the evening of October 3 at 8 o'clock, at which time the club's committees will be named by the president. Everybody interested in conservation is invited to be present.

LIONS TO HOLD GOLF TOURNAMENT

Club Sees Movies of Local
Sports at Meeting
Monday Night

Members of the Antioch Lions club will assemble at the Chain O' Lakes Country club Tuesday afternoon for a round of golf just among themselves, which will be followed by a dinner at the club house.

The hooking and slicing will begin at 1:00 o'clock and the dinner will be at 6. Serving on the committee on arrangements with President Scott are Irving Carey and George Wagner. A suitable array of prizes will be provided.

Miss Haling Shows Movies

A pleasant innovation from the regular routine of business at the Club meeting Monday night was the showing of colored motion pictures by Miss Clara Haling, who has shown considerable skill in photography. The pictures were made locally and showed the planting of the prize fish in local lakes last May and June, boating scenes, fishing and hunting shots. The pictures were remarkably clear, and Miss Haling won the praise of the Club members through her courtesy in showing them.

It has been suggested that a number of such films, showing sports during the various seasons in the lake region be procured for showing in connection with advertising exhibits.

Dr. Deering, vice president, had charge of the meeting in the absence of President Scott who is at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., this week.

Apple Tree Misses Cue— Blooms in September

Mrs. Peter W. Kapp today reported that several blossoms appeared on an apple tree at her home on Beach Grove road. After bearing a full crop of apples this summer, the tree apparently is trying for a second crop before frost.

Lynn Johnson is spending a three weeks' vacation at Ludington, Mich. here last month.

Delinquent Tax List of Antioch Published

Delinquent tax lists for the township of Antioch and the delinquent special list for the Village of Antioch appear in this edition of the News.

Judgment against the properties listed will be asked in the County Court on September 26 by County Treasurer Allen J. Nelson. On October 10 the lands and lots will be exposed for public sale in the County Court room of the Court House in Waukegan, for the amount of taxes, special taxes, special assessments, interest and costs due. The sale will begin at 9 a. m. central standard time, and will continue from day to day until the sales are completed.

WEBB STILL IN SAME CONDITION

Fear Pneumonia Complication of Injuries Sustained in Elkhorn Accident

Fears that pneumonia might complicate the condition of Constable James Webb, critically injured in the automobile accident that took the life of his wife, Josephine, a week ago last Saturday near Elkhorn, Wis., were expressed yesterday and today.

The condition of Constable Webb otherwise remains practically unchanged, it is reported. He is still in the Walworth County hospital at Elkhorn, where he is said to have lapsed into a coma lasting for some days now, following a brief period shortly after the accident, during which he regained consciousness.

It was found necessary to drain off matter accumulating as a result of injuries to the right frontal bones of the face with a skull fracture believed to extend in from the region of the sinus to the floor of the brain. He also has a spiral fracture of the right leg.

The accident occurred when the Webb automobile and one driven by John Williamson of Chicago collided head-on about four miles south of Elkhorn. A tire blew out on the Williamson machine, swerving it directly into the path of that in which Mr. and Mrs. Webb were driving to Elkhorn to attend the Walworth county fair there.

Mrs. Webb and the wife of Mr. Williamson, who accompanied him, both died shortly after being taken to the hospital by a police squad which rushed to the scene. With the Williamsons also was their small daughter, who was at first believed unharmed, but has since become seriously ill. Mr. Williamson, who had a fractured knee cap, was removed to a Chicago hospital on Labor Day Monday following the accident.

Both Organizations Will Institute New Officers
This Evening

Warren Edwards will be installed as commander of Antioch Post No. 748 of the American Legion and Mrs. Otto Klass as president of the Antioch Legion auxiliary at joint installation to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Guild hall.

Installing officers for the Auxiliary will be headed by Mrs. Mary Chase, Mrs. Rosabel Anderson, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Eva Kaye, chaplain, and Mrs. Lillian Jensen, musician, will assist.

Open to Friends
Dancing and a luncheon will follow the ceremony, which is to be open to members and friends of both organizations. A number of out-of-town guests are expected to be present.

Meetings of the Legion are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month. The auxiliary meets twice a month, on the second and fourth Fridays.

The Antioch Legion auxiliary was represented by Mrs. Klass and Mrs. Mary Chase at an installation held by the Waukegan organization last Thursday evening. The event was in the form of a dinner in the Waukegan Legion home, at which Waukegan and visiting members to the number of 113 were present.

Lynn Johnson is spending a three weeks' vacation at Ludington, Mich. here last month.

HOBBY SHOW TO BE OPENED TO GENERAL PUBLIC

All Persons Interested Are Invited to Enter It,
P. T. A. States

Everyone in the community having a hobby is invited to join in the "Hobby Show" to be sponsored by the Antioch Parent Teacher association Monday, Oct. 10, at the Graded school.

Plans for the Hobby show were announced at the P. T. A.'s first meeting of the year, Monday evening in the schoolhouse. The committee consists of Mrs. Fields, chairman, Mrs. Nellie Vos, Mrs. Elmer Hunter, M. M. Stillson and R. E. Clabaugh.

Adults taking part should notify Mrs. Fields, high school students, Mr. Stillson and grade school students, Mr. Clabaugh. All entries should be listed before October 10.

Exhibits may be brought to the Grade school between 1 and 4 p. m. Monday. The Hobby show will be held in the evening.

Not to Be Judged

Some of the types of entries which are expected to provide special interest in the exhibit are collections of stamps, dolls, coins, butterflies and other nature study objects, and small antiques.

Work done in leathercraft, wood carving, needlework, art work, clay modeling, soap carving, metal work, puppetry, weaving, photography and taxidermy will also be welcomed, the committee states.

The purpose of the show is to encourage the following of worthwhile hobbies by the children and adults of the community. Exhibits will not be judged, but instead will be arranged so as to present as interesting and attractive an ensemble as possible, for the enjoyment of those attending.

Study Club Formed

A group study club which will meet every third Tuesday of the month is being formed under the auspices of the P. T. A. Mrs. Simon is chairman and on her committee are Mrs. Vos and Mrs. R. E. Clabaugh.

Children's problems will be discussed at the meetings.

Mrs. Vos and Mrs. Brinkman have been elected delegates to the county P. T. A. council, which meets three times a year. The alternates are Mrs. Virgil Felter and Mrs. James Dunn.

Coming events sponsored by the association also include the card party to be held at the school on the evening of September 26, with Mmes. Joseph Patrovsky, Roy Kufalk and Elmer Hunter as hostesses.

Health Work Extended

Following up its previous work in the interests of child health, the P. T. A. will sponsor Schick tests, diphtheria inoculations, dental examinations and summer round-ups for the school children.

It is also adding to its health program the sponsoring of a complete physical examination of all children from the fourth to eighth grades, inclusive.

Announcements have been made of the district P. T. A. meeting to be held Friday, September 23, in Libertyville. Mrs. Hunter is in charge of reservations for persons planning to attend from this vicinity.

THREE MEN ON A HORSE

AUTHORITIES SEE TWO DEATHS AS MURDER, SUICIDE

Mysterious Slayings of Scott
LeVoy, Daughter-in-law,
Millburn, Investigated

The possibility that Scott LeVoy, 65, shot his son's wife, May, while despondent over marital differences between his son and daughter-in-law, and then killed himself is being considered by Lake county authorities as the most plausible explanation for the tragedy which took place at the LeVoy farm on Route 45 early Tuesday morning.

LeVoy was believed also to have been grieving over the death of a grandson at Oak Park a few months ago.

James LeVoy, 31, had been in the barn about 100 feet southwest of the house milking cows at the time of the shooting, he told law enforcement officers who questioned him.

Accident Theory Disproved

The body of the elder LeVoy, a county highway maintenance patrolman, was found in the kitchen with a fatal wound from a 12-gauge shotgun just below the heart. The gun was found nearby.

Mrs. LeVoy, 26, was discovered at the foot of a stairway leading from the kitchen to the basement, where she had been preparing sandwiches for the elder LeVoy's luncheon.

Her neck was broken, and it was at first believed that the case was one of suicide and accident. It was thought that she had rushed up the stairway on hearing the shot that killed her father-in-law and, in the shock of seeing what had happened, had fallen and been fatally injured.

An autopsy conducted by Coroner John L. Taylor, however, revealed that vertebrae in her neck had been shattered by a bullet from a 22-caliber rifle. A 22 rifle found behind the door between the kitchen and dining room of the home was sent to the Chicago police ballistics laboratory for comparison with the bullet.

Planned to Leave

Mrs. LeVoy, James told Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy, had been planning to leave home to seek a housekeeping job elsewhere. His father had endeavored to persuade her to stay.

His wife had on three occasions left to work as a housekeeper away from home, according to James LeVoy. At the time of his marriage to her on Dec. 13, 1935, she had for some time been employed in that capacity in the LeVoy household.

Mrs. LeVoy had been married three times previously. Her first husband died, and she had twice married her second husband, Lee Sutton of Culver, Indiana, their marriage both times being terminated by divorce.

Several puzzling details in the case, including the possibility of a double murder by an intruder, are being investigated by the county authorities.

TELEPHONES HERE WILL "GO MODERN"

No More "Cranks" on Line!
New Battery Type Phones
To Be Installed

Antioch telephones are all set to "go modern" early in October, when they will be changed from the present method of operation whereby the user signals the operator by turning a crank to that in which the lifting of the receiver in itself is the signal.

Representatives of the Illinois Bell telephone company will be visiting its subscribers within the next few days and making certain changes in the present telephones so that they may be used temporarily after the change to the new plan of operation. Shortly after this change the telephones will be replaced with a new type of instrument.

On Central Battery

The change in operation is from the former "magneto" type to one in which battery boxes will not be necessary on the telephones, but the electrical current will be supplied from a single large battery in the new office home of the Antioch branch, at 966 Victoria street.

Office equipment of the most modern design, engineered to meet the requirements of Antioch for many years to come, is being installed in the new building.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Miller left Monday for Dixon, Illinois, where they will make their home in the future.

$13,500,000,000 of Your Money

It is estimated that this government—federal, state and national—will levy taxes to the tune of $13,500,000,000 this year.

Just one-ninth of that sum will be raised through income taxes. The gigantic balance will be raised through indirect taxes which represent part of the cost of a pair of shoes, a ticket to a show, rent, groceries and every necessity and luxury of life.

The great bulk of indirect taxes are paid by persons of small and moderate means. A man with a thousand dollars a year eats as much as a man with fifty thousand. And the hidden tax burden is obviously of infinite greater importance to him.

Here is the answer to those who think the tax problem, is a wealthy man's problem, which doesn't touch the poor. There isn't a man, woman or child in this country who doesn't pay taxes—and heavy taxes, to boot. And the worst sufferer from extravagant government is that ordinary citizen who thinks he is tax-free because he pays no direct levies.

A Strong Ship

One hundred and fifty-one years have passed since, on September 17, 1787, the Constitution of the United States was adopted and signed and its framers came to the end of many weary weeks of wrangling.

The statesmen who had gathered from the 13 original colonies to write it could turn their horses' heads homeward. They were not satisfied. There had been times during the convention when it had looked as though they never would get a constitution of any kind completed at all, what with jealousies, dissenting opinions and violent colonial rivalries.

Their final results were achieved only through endless compromise, debate, hesitation and thought. When the Constitution-makers left Philadelphia to go back to the states, that had yet to place their stamp of approval upon the finished draft by ratifying it, they did not know how good a job they had done.

But they had done a good one. It has been good enough to last through more than a century and a half of freedom, through stresses and strains of all sorts.

The Constitution of the United States was no outgrowth of peaceful, placid times. Its principles are the outgrowth of the hard experiences of colonial days, of the bitterness of war and the upheaval of war's aftermath. It was built to serve a nation through the hard times. And perhaps that is why it has endured.

This week, throughout the United States, we are observing Constitution Week. On Saturday we will pay honor to the forethought of those men whose work lives on in a nation greater than they may even have dreamed of; to the wisdom of Benjamin Franklin and the noble character of George Washington.

We today are still beset on every side by problems and hardships, in spite of our boasted modern luxuries; by perplexing political situations, jealousies, dissenting opinions, personal ambitions and violent rivalries. We cannot quite sit down to enjoy at ease the hard-won fruits of earlier generations' labor. The "Ship of State" is a strong one. And it is up to us to keep it so.

Jobs or Relief

Farmers in New York State are complaining to relief officers that crops are rotting in the fields because hands cannot be found willing to give up relief and go to work. One farmer even went to the expense of "importing" several hands from Virginia, only to have most of them "desert" when they discovered that relief checks could be had for asking and without doing a lick of work.

Certainly such relief-seeking job-shirkers are to be condemned, but it is unreasonable to say the blame is entirely theirs. Rather, the blame lies in a relief system that discourages initiative and promotes a vast army of public charges willing to remain unemployed as long as they are being fed and John Taxpayer pays the check.

Under such a system there is no need for anyone (John Taxpayer excepted, of course) to work. One simply remains unemployed and continues to get all the benefits without doing any of the work.

Prevent Winter Fires Now

Now is the time to get ready for winter comfort, while the heating plant is out of service. Many a December fire has been prevented in September.

Your furnace should be thoroughly examined by an expert, cleaned, and necessary repairs made. Flues, chimneys and fireplaces should be given similar attention. All this work should be done in a first-class manner—short-cuts don't pay.

Another excellent plan is go on a still hunt through the house for debris. Litter in the basement, rickety furniture you stored away in the attic and forgot—greasy rags and waste in the garage—accumulations of junk in drawers and cupboards—get rid of it now. Such accumulations are fire's best breeding places.

Next inspect lamps, electric cords and other equipment which is used little this time of year. They will have to carry their heaviest loads during the winter months—and any defect may result in a disastrous fire. And again, call in an expert—it's cheapest in the long run. Amateur electrical repairs are often worse than no repairs at all.

When this work is finished, you'll have a more comfortable home as well as a safer home. It's no sport to have your heating plant break down when you need it most—because of neglect and inattention. And no one enjoys awakening in the middle of the night to hear the crackle of unchecked fire.

In brief—do your winter fire preventing now!

THIEF APOLOGIZES,
GIVES UP PISTOL
AND FOLLOWS GIRLBookkeeper Keeps Her Nerve in Encounter With Armed Holdup Man.

Boston.—By keeping her nerve in an encounter with a holdup man carrying a revolver, Miss Corinne bookkeeper for the College Hand laundry, not only talked the invader out of robbing the place but induced him to apologize and surrender his weapon.

The girl had just distributed a $400 pay roll to the laundry employees and was alone in the office, sitting with her back to the door, when the would-be robber entered. In front of her was an envelope containing $50 of the company's money and a handbag containing $29 of her own.

The intruder pressed a revolver against her back, saying: "This is a stick up. Hand over the money."

Miss Gagnon stood up, turned, and faced the gun.

"What's the matter with you—crazy?" she said. "There's no money here. You can't get away with this. If I yell this place will be full of people in a couple of seconds."

Outlaw Astonished by Maneuver.

The bandit was so surprised he was unable to speak for a minute. Then he commanded:

"Open that safe."

With a bold air, the girl strode to the safe, flung open the door and, talking loudly in the hope those in the laundry would hear her, said: "There you are, mister. You can see for yourself there's not a cent there. What do you want to go around holding up people for, anyway? Say, if you're so hard up, I'll give you a couple of dollars of my own."

This virtually dazed the robber, who stood holding the gun and looking as if he didn't know whether to leave or stay. This only increased Miss Gagnon's courage and she continued:

"What you need's a job. I'll get the boss. Come on. I won't say a word about this."

Obediently he followed her from the office into the laundry and right up to the owner, Abraham Morad.

"Mr. Morad, this man tried to hold me up," said Miss Gagnon.

Owner's Turn to Be Astounded.

It was Morad's turn to be astounded. As he looked at the man and saw the gun, which the bandit was now trying to hide under his coat, the gunman said:

"She's right, but I didn't rob her. She didn't have anything. I couldn't go through with it. She could see I need a job."

"Don't you know the consequences, don't you know you could go to prison?" asked the girl.

"Sure," said the robber. "Here, take this gun before I get into trouble. I'm sorry I tried it. I haven't eaten for two days."

"Why don't you get on the WPA?" asked Morad.

"O, there's too much red tape, and besides I'm a Republican."

But the prolonged conversation was annoying him. He was beginning to get fearful. The laundry workers were edging close and listening. With sudden determination he dashed for the door and escaped.

Resolute Woman Is Pried
Out of Two Automobiles

Mount Clemens, Mich.—Two one-women sit-down strikes took place the other day near here. In both cases the sitter was Mrs. Joseph Hodiaik.

Her first one-woman strike was in the automobile of her husband, a Detroit factory worker, which Constable Alfred D. Vincent of St. Clair Shores attempted to seize for non-payment of a judgment for $100.05. For hours the constable, with several assistants, attempted to eject her from the locked automobile, parked at her home.

When all other efforts failed the constable called a wrecking car, which towed the automobile and its passenger to a garage. There one door was pried open and, as the constable described it later, Mrs. Hodiaik was pried off the steering wheel.

The siege ended, Mrs. Hodiaik was taken in a police car to her home. When she refused to leave the police car, George Collins, chief of police of Warren township, took her to Mount Clemens, where she was registered on a charge of disturbing the peace. The next day, however, Justice of the Peace Edgar I. Moses, who granted the judgment last October and the subsequent writ of execution, ordered her released without charge.

Police Pound Robbed

Dallas.—City police investigated themselves when it was discovered that a car stored at the city pound had been stripped.

Gives Lives for Pets

Washington, N. J.—Simeon Smith and his wife Anna had refused to go to the county home because they would have to give up their dogs and cats. One of the pets overturned an oil lamp and started a fire in which the elderly couple burned to death.

Gets $2,000 for Ear Bite

Boston.—One ear partly bitten off equaled $2,000 when Joseph Ryan was awarded that sum in a damage suit against his landlord.

Size of Rain Drops

Drops of water formed in the atmosphere by condensation of aqueous vapor and falling rapidly by virtue of their weight are known as rain. Smaller, finer particles, falling more slowly, are known as mist or fog. Drops of rain one-fourth to three-tenths of an inch in diameter have been measured. The smallest drops of rain measure one-twentieth of an inch in diameter.

Woodchuck Equipped to Do Good Job of Gnawing

The short-tailed, rugged-bodied woodchuck is a rodent or gnawing mammal which has broad, chisel-like front teeth in both the upper and lower jaw, writes Walter J. Schoonmaker in a New York Zoological Society bulletin. When full grown it is usually more than 20 and less than 25 inches from the nose to the end of the tail bone and the vertebrae in the tail are five to six inches long.

Generally, the back is grizzled gray variegated with chestnut, black and yellow; the scantly haired belly and the legs are quite red or rufous and the tail and feet are usually dark brown or nearly black. This typical color, however, is subject to a great deal of variation and may range from black to white. The melanistic color phase is quite common, but the albino individual with pink eyes is rare because the mother may kill and eat the striking off-color offspring soon after birth.

The woodchuck is child of the sun. Seldom does it appear before sunrise and usually it retires before dusk, although on rare occasions it may be found abroad at night. It readily climbs trees and it swims with ease, although it is not as agile as its long-tailed cousin the squirrel, nor as aquatic as its more distant relative, the beaver. It is an accomplished digger, however, and finds a home and safety in the bosom of Mother Earth. Its burrow measures about seven inches in diameter and may be from three to twenty-four feet or more in length. Two entrances to the den are usual. One is prominent, with a mound of earth before it, while the second, the air hole or lookout, is often quite concealed and no loose earth is near it. The nest is located in a chamber in the burrow and is composed of dry grass.

Hand of Dead King-Saint,
Stephen, on Exhibition

One of the world's few historically authentic holy relics is the miraculously preserved right hand of Hungary's king-saint, Stephen, who died 900 years ago. Each year on St. Stephen's day the holy right hand is paraded through the streets of Buda, the older half of the Magyar twin-city on the Danube, in a procession that is generally regarded as Europe's most gorgeous and impressive annual pageant event, according to a correspondent in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

King Stephen was canonized in 1083. His tomb was then opened and the saint's body in the great alabaster sarcophagus was found in a state of complete preservation in a fragrant pink liquid of mysterious origin that filled the coffin.

The Hungarian king, Ladislas, who was present, ordered the right hand of Stephen be put in a precious wrought container and a parchment bearing the inscription, "This is the Holy Right of Glorious King Stephen the Apostolic," placed in its grasp.

The relic is in the same state in which it was found. It is somewhat darker than in life, but the flesh and structure are intact, and it has neither turned to stone, as does anything petrified, nor shriveled as mummified bodies do. The fingers and thumb are slightly flexed. The hand rests on a red velvet cushion within a tabernacle of gold and glass. A gold band encircles the wrist, which extends for several inches above the hand.

Black and White

For all practical purposes white and black are colors, but technically they are not. White is a combination of all colors, and black, the absence of color. Colors are produced by the difference in the length of light waves. We see the longer waves as red, those a little shorter as orange, and so on. The shortest light waves visible appear to the eye as violet. A red object is one which absorbs all the light waves except the red ones; they are reflected back to the eye and produce the color called red. An orange-colored object is one which absorbs all the light waves except the orange ones; they are reflected back to the eye and produce the color called orange, and so on. White consists of light waves of all lengths—all of wave lengths mixed together. A white object is one which reflects all or nearly all the light waves; and a black object is one that absorbs all or nearly all the light waves.

The Game of Bridge

Under the name of "Britch," bridge was played in Constantinople in the seventies of the last century. From there it spread gradually to Cairo, the Riviera, London and New York. Everywhere it went it ousted its parent game, whist. The actual first game of bridge seems to have been played at the Villa Coronio, on the upper Bosphorus, in August, 1873. Its inventor, M. Serghia, a gentleman of Rumanian origin, was one of the four players on this historic occasion.

Seats Assigned Senators

Senators are assigned certain seats and desks. Seniority governs seating and changes are made from time to time. In the house of representatives no allotment is made and the members occupy any seat available. In both the house and senate political divisions are made. The Democrats occupy one side and the Republicans the other.

"HIPPO" IS ONE OF
NATURE'S ANTIQUESHuge Beast Is Only Living
Relic of Stone Age.

Washington, D. C.—Birth of a nine-pound baby hippopotamus at the National Zoological park in Washington, and the hope that the tiny infant will survive, focuses attention on one of the queerest wild creatures in captivity. The newly arrived hippo is a pygmy, and if it reaches maturity will, like its mother, weigh only about 450 pounds. This contrasts with a weight of 4,800 to 6,000 pounds for the ordinary adult hippopotamus.

"Growing as rare as the vanishing American buffalo, that vanishing African, the hippopotamus, receives protection from several governments of middle and southern Africa," says the National Geographic society. "Wardens help the hippo escape the native steak platters. Left to himself, the cumbersome creature is about as dangerous as a grand piano.

"In spite of his successful zoo career as a very wild-beast behind bars, the hippo is only a barnyard brute at heart—in short, a pig. Half-pig at least, says the scientist, considering the short legs, four-toed foot, rasping grunt, rooting muzzle and tusks. Pig-and-a-half, observes the layman with a measuring eye. For this super-porker is outranked for sheer bulk by the elephant alone among land animals. Parking space for a standard model hippo would need to be about 14 feet long. The average hippo's hide, two inches thick, is draped around three tons of animal.

Horse of the River.

"'River swine' was the ancient Egyptians' name for him. A visiting Greek three centuries B. C. dubbed him 'horse of the river,' and the Greek for that phrase—hippopotamus—became his title, a name as unwieldy as his frame.

"This nightmare of a pig has a spongy skin with a network of fine creases. It is a rich hue of rare beefsteak, shading into blue-gray and dappled with chocolate. His face is shaped like a violin-cell gabled at the top with a pair of alert eyes and gnarled at either end of the nose ridge with knobs of eyes and nostrils. Stubby legs and short flattened tail are dwarfed by his bulk.

"One of his odder features is the 'bloody sweat,' a reddish oil which pours from the hippo's pores under stress of pain or excitement.

"This greatest of hogs is one of nature's antiquities, a living relic of the Stone age. It may be the only big brute left which retains its face and figure from the days when prehistoric savages of southeastern Europe speared it along the banks of the Thames. Remains indicate that the hippo once roamed through Europe and even India. His four-toed feet have beat a slow, thunderous retreat before advancing civilization to the dark heart of Africa, which is now the bewildered hippo's last stand. He lurks among the reedy margins of lakes and rivers from the latitude of Timbuktu south to the latitude of Durban, already growing noticeably scarce around the edges of the continent.

"By day the hippo hides his homely face in shady marshes or gallows along river bottoms with whalelike excursions to the surface to spout for air every five or ten minutes. No matter how cumbersome on land, he dives and swims with Olympic skill.

No Daity Appetite.

"Catering to their gigantic appetite, which is exclusively vegetarian, it is a hippo size job. In captivity, a baby can drink 15 pints of milk and squeal for more. An adult can stow away in his ten feet of stomach a dozen bunches of carrots, a half-dozen heads of cabbage, a peck of apples, 15 loaves of bread, 150 pounds of hay.

"Short legs make him stumble so easily that low flimsy fences are protection against hippo marauding visits. When the husky herds grow numerous enough to trample crops along cultivated river sides, they are transferred from the protected list to the black list. White hunters track them down, finding them about as much sport as a frightened cow. Natives kill them for food, feasting on hippo bacon and smoked tongue, rendering the fat into a pure oil that doesn't turn rancid for years.

"Mild manners and steady habits place the hippo among the respectable bourgeois of the jungle and surely among the favorites of the zoo. His popularity as a captive was well under way in 293 B. C. in the zoo of Octavius. Barnum billed him as Behemoth of the Bible.

"The pygmy hippopotamus which range through Liberia on Africa's west coast are very pocket editions similar to fossils found on Madagascar and Sicily. Naturalists wonder whether the small size was a special adaptation to island surroundings, and why

Lesson for September 18JONATHAN: COURAGEOUS FRIENDSHIP

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 20:4-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—A friend loveth at all times.—Proverbs 17:17.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Noble Prince Jonathan.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Adventure of Friendship.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Cost of Being a Friend.

Without question, the most precious possession any man or woman has (apart from his fellowship with God if he is a Christian, and the love of his own family) is friendship. It is the flower that blooms by the side of the rugged pathway of life. Like many flowers, some friendships need to be cultivated and encouraged.

It has been said that the love of a woman for another woman is a beautiful thing, the love of a man for a woman an even more devoted and precious thing, but that the bond of love between man and man surpasses all in its strength and glory. Some might question such a statement, and yet it is true that between man and man there is the possibility of the highest type of friendship. David and Jonathan stand at the head of an inspiring list of men who loved each other with their whole souls.

The lesson for today calls for a careful reading of the incidents in the life of Jonathan and David recorded in I Samuel, chapters 14, 18, 19, and 20, as well as the first chapter of II Samuel. It is a story which will richly reward a careful reading. Considering the printed portion in the light of this background we note six things that characterized this great friendship.

I. Cultivated (v. 4).

Friendships must be "kept in repair." Foolish and almost wicked is that man who by boorishly offending his fellowmen, or by neglecting the thoughtful words and acts that cultivate friendship, drives men away from him. "He that hath friends must show himself friendly" (Prov. 18:24). Consider the admonition of our Lord in Luke 16:8, 9, where he urges the righteous use of even our worldly possessions to cultivate eternal friendships. Read what Jonathan did in I Sam. 18:3-5, only one of his many loving and thoughtful acts.

II. Courteous (v. 8).

David asked that Jonathan deal kindly with him, and the entire story reveals that he did just that, always. More friendships are wrecked on the rocks of little discourtesies than in almost any other way.

We live in an age which affects an outward veneer of culture but which is at heart often thoughtless and unkind. Let Christian men and women be courteous. They should be as followers of the gentle Jesus, and it will bring them countless friends.

III. Candid (v. 9).

Friendships that last must be built on absolute candor, not the kind that delights in telling an unpleasant truth, but one which speaks the truth in love. Jonathan told David the truth.

IV. Courageous (vv. 12, 13).

Jonathan was such a faithful son that when the time of parting came he stayed with his wicked father rather than go with David, whom he loved. But he was true to David even though he knew it would incur the wrath of his father if that friendship became known.

Things that cost us nothing are usually "worth it." Real friendship calls for sacrifice, standing by in the night hours, sharing burdens, loyal even though others may condemn us for it.

V. Covenant Keeping (vv. 16, 17). Covenants entered into by solemn treaties in our time are soon discarded as "scraps of paper." People make promises to one another that they never intend to fulfill. Jonathan and David made a covenant and kept it. True friends do not violate their loving agreements.

This matter of trickery and falsehood in life and business is one that deeply troubles the writer of these notes. He sees unmistakable evidence that this perverse spirit has come into the precincts of the church itself. We should have a revival of honesty in office, home, state, and church.

VI. Complete (v. 17).

"He loved him as he loved his own soul!"—such a friend was Jonathan. His devotion to David had no qualifying "strings" on it. He was not seeking something for himself. The closest he came to that was to bring his children into the covenant with David (v. 18), and who could question the propriety of such devotion between true friends? He saw that David was to supplant Saul as king, and in the face of his own interest as Saul's son, he put David forward.

Friendship is akin to our relationship to God in that it calls for a complete giving of ourselves, if we are to be true friends. This does not mean that individuality is lost, or special interests and abilities destroyed, but it does mean a whole-souled desire for our friend's welfare, and a complete devotion of our all to his good.

LAKE VILLA

Lake Villa Com. Church (M. E.)
I. B. Allen, Pastor
Sunday School—10 A. M.
Worship Service—11 A. M.

The Official Board of the church will meet Friday evening this week with Mr. and Mrs. Weber at their home at Sand lake.

The Ladies Aid society will meet Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21, with Mrs. Frank Wood at her home. Visitors are always welcome at the meetings, the society announces.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cribb entertained friends from Chicago at their home Saturday.

Miss Cornelia Douglas was unable to attend High school this week as the result of an infected foot.

Miss Margaret Gilbert of Waukegan visited her sister, Mrs. Horace Culver, Saturday and Sunday.

"Be strong and of a good courage"

THOUGH the progress of human invention, modes of living have become increasingly luxurious, and today the average person enjoys many comforts that were unheard of a few generations ago. While being grateful for every progressive step that lessens drudgery and reduces hardship, we need to watch lest the enjoyment of material comforts render us unfit to face difficulties. One need only look around him at the state of human affairs in many countries, to realize that humanity has a great need for moral courage today.

There is a vast difference between genuine courage and a stoical submission without complaint to wrong conditions which are believed to be unavoidable...

True courage or fearlessness belongs by right of spiritual inheritance to all the children of God. Divine Love is an inexhaustible fountain of good, from which one can draw an endless supply of courage, patience, endurance, tolerance, and tenderness, whenever it is necessary to use these qualities. The spiritual strength supplied by omnipotent Love can be realized and proved in our daily experience.

In encouraging Joshua and the children of Israel, who were soon to pass over Jordan to take possession of the land of promise, their great leader, Moses, said (Deuteronomy 31:6), "Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of the Lord thy God, he is it that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee." How often we need to be reminded of this spiritual fact, when approaching some new and untried experience, or when fear and discouragement try to rob us of the fruit of our labors! It is our certainty of divine Love's ever-present ability to protect and guide which endows us with courage and spiritual endurance.

"But how can such certainty be gained?" asks one, "when on every side there seem to be danger and discord?"... In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says (p. 228): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God." This spiritual fact, when understood and applied, enables us to face any difficulty, and teaches us how to solve our problems.

Discouragement is a mental state produced by believing that there is a power opposed to God, and that this power, named devil or evil, can frustrate God, good. Perhaps we may be listening to arguments of evil which seem to whisper, "You are sick; you are poor, lonely, miserable, unwanted." And the more we listen, the louder these arguments seem to talk, until we become mesmerized by them and self-pity clouds our mental horizon. Even a glimpse of spiritual reality will aid in breaking such mesmerism. How often a thought of gratitude destroys the gloom of discouragement; for gratitude is an acknowledgment of the reality of good. If we continue to be grateful, we shall find that other spiritual restoratives will come to our aid, and we shall regain our courage; for it is not a personal characteristic, but a spiritual quality to be claimed and utilized by each and all.

Mrs. Eddy also writes (ibid., p. 514): "Moral courage is 'the lion of the tribe of Juda,' the king of the mental realm. Free and fearless it roams in the forest. Undisturbed it lies in the open field, or rests in 'green pastures'... beside the still waters." Moral courage is free and fearless because it is inspired by the understanding of spiritual reality. It is undisturbed, whether in the forest, in the open field, or "beside the still waters" of peace and contentment. This spiritual courage proceeds from trust in the infinite ability of God to guide and guard His children, and from a deeper understanding of the obedience which acknowledges His will as supreme.

The scientific revelation of creation, as given in the first chapter of Genesis, declares God to be the only creator, and proclaims the inspired truth regarding man, the image and likeness of God, divine Mind, namely, that he is endowed with dominion "over all the earth" (Genesis 1:26). Our demonstration of these spiritual truths depends on the measure of our obedience to the First Commandment (Exodus 20:3), "Thou shall have no other gods before me, which is the basis of moral and spiritual law. The understanding and demonstration of this spiritual requirement overcomes fear, discouragement, and impatience, and brings us into our heritage of spiritual dominion.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Protecting the Waterfowl
Grazing by cattle and other domestic animals destroys waterfowl food and cover and frequently causes the loss of eggs due to trampling. On areas frequented by large numbers of waterfowl, grazing should be confined by fencing to protect the best nesting cover, says Successful Farming. Small grains like barley, oats, or wheat should be broadcast on waste lands where practical. Such grains, relished by game birds, augment available food supplies and tend to hold game on the farm.

In the Farm Lot

A 10 by 12 foot brooder house will provide ample accommodation for 100 or even 200 day old chicks.

In recent years many poultrymen have found that local markets are best for both live and dressed poultry.

Unless cows have an abundance of pure water to which they can go at any time, milk flow will be affected.

"The Harbor Horror"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY: Frank V. Hann of Hackensack, N. J., is with us today, to tell us the story of the shortest sea voyage he ever made. It's a yarn that proves that all sea-going thrillers don't happen out on the ocean where the waves run high and the wind screams through the rigging. For this particular trip ended in adventure—and terrible tragedy—before the ship was out of the harbor.

It was at Halifax, on October 28, 1929, that the cruise started. Frank was first mate of the steamer "Larking," which was due to sail that night. It was a dark, cloudy day, and the loading gang was working at a fast pace to finish while it was still light.

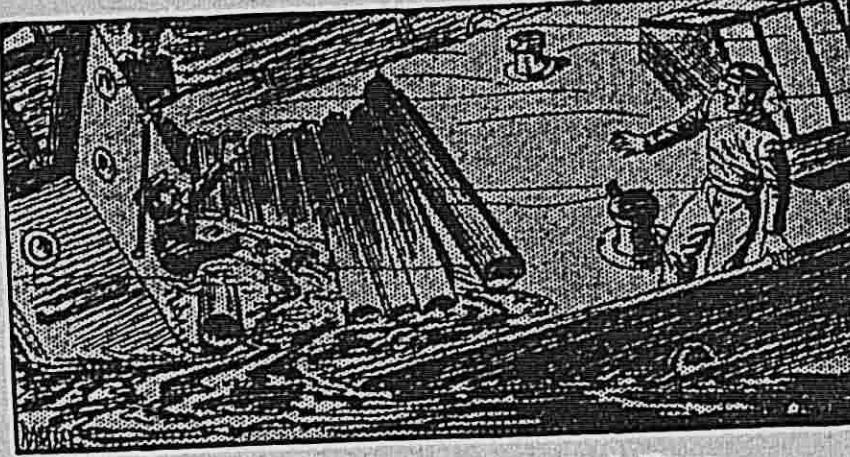

There were only a few cases left to come aboard, when word came from the company agent that the two carloads of iron pipe had to be loaded. The holds were full, and the only available space for that pipe was on the open deck, but orders were orders and the pipe had to come aboard.

The pipe arrived and the gang started loading it on the after deck. That pipe was to give Frank Hann the most terrible moments of his life.

It Was a Bad Night for Navigation.

The ship finally got under way, but darkness shut down just as they cleared the dock. A drizzling rain had started to fall, and visibility was poor. Traffic in the channel seemed to be unusually heavy. Whistles of tugs and harbor craft were blowing on all sides. Lights were hard to distinguish through the rain. But the "Larking" got along all right until it was almost clear of the harbor limits.

Then, suddenly, the officer on watch spied a small light directly ahead. He called Captain Williams' attention to it and the captain, after studying it for several seconds, made out a dark mass on the water, decided it was a tow boat. He gave an order to alter the ship's course slightly to port. The ship's whistles were blown to signal the tug. The captain figured—and rightly—that he would clear the tug by thus altering his course, but a minute later—too late—the men on the bridge saw a number of mud scows being towed along behind the tug, and the ships headed straight for them!

The captain ordered, "full speed astern," but that helped mighty little. Before the momentum of the ship could be checked, they struck the hawser between the first and second scows. The second scow swung around against the side of the ship, and there was an ominous grinding, and a rippling of steel plates.

Big Hole Below the Water Line.

"For a moment," Frank says, "we were all stunned. Captain Williams shouted to me: 'Get below, Mr. Hann, and see how badly we've been hit and how much water we're taking.' I dashed down the ladder and came back to report a big hole in the side below the water line, with the water coming in like Niagara. Even as I was speaking the ship began to list. Captain Williams seized the tube and called down to the engineer, 'Have the men draw the fires and all report on deck at once!'"

Nothing in the world would save that ship. The boats were lowered and the crew clambered in. Frank and the captain were just about to get in themselves, when the captain remembered his papers and went back to get them. The ship after deck was almost level with the water by that time. Her bow was already under. And then a terrible thing happened.

"The captain had just come out of the pilot house," says Frank, "and clambered down the ladder to the deck, when suddenly the ship gave a sickening lurch, and Williams was thrown against the deck house. And then, as in a nightmare, I saw the iron pipe which had been stowed on the after deck shift with the movement of the ship.

Captain Williams' Terrible Plight.

"I saw Williams pinned to the deck house up to his knees by tons of iron pipe. His legs must have been broken instantly, for his eyes almost started out of their sockets. His cries rent the air as the chief engineer and I started toward him. The bow of the ship was under water, and moments were precious now. In desperation, we tried to move some of the heavy pieces of iron, but our efforts were pathetic.

"The sweat was pouring off our faces, and our lungs almost burst under the strain. Our task was hopeless, and to make matters worse, the water was already creeping up to our shoes. We knew we could never move that pipe in time, so we abandoned this effort and made a hysterical attempt to drag Williams—who weighed two hundred pounds—clear of the pipe that was crushing his legs. We took hold of his arms and tried to pull him loose by sheer force."

Then followed a scene that Frank will never forget. Tears were streaming down Captain Williams' face, and his cries were terrible to hear. "My God," he moaned, "why do you have to do this to me?" And then he began shrieking over and over again, "Get me loose—get me loose! I don't want to die!"

Says Frank: "I had never witnessed such terror in my life. He was half out of his mind by this time. Suddenly he clutched each of us by an arm, with all the fearful strength of a man bereft of his senses. We were standing higher than he was, but his grip was terrific. I knew he was doomed, and if we could not break away we were doomed with him. Already the water had passed our knees and was working up to our waistlines. Still we tried, with ebbing strength, to break away from him. But it was no use."

The water was up to their chests now. The ship would go under any moment. The water began covering the Captain's face. Still he hung on. It seemed an interminable time before his grip relaxed. Then Frank and the engineer, their strength almost gone, turned and swam to the waiting lifeboat.

So, in the calm waters of the harbor a captain went down with his ship and Frank Hann finished the shortest voyage he ever made.

Island of Caves

Staffa, island of the Inner Hebrides of Scotland, is famous for its cave of Fingal, its majestic entrance with basaltic columns from 20 to 40 feet in height, and other curious caves to explore; caves discovered first by Sir Joseph Banks in 1772. The Gaelic name for Fingal's is "The Cave of Music," expressive of the sounds and tones of the sea around and within it. It is the home of seals and sea birds, once a haven from storm for hardy seafarers. Its ocean floor is always nine feet deep.

Antioch Couple Are Married In Woodstock

Miss Thelma Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cunningham, became the bride of Chester Kilpatrick, also of Antioch, in a ceremony performed last Thursday in Woodstock by Judge Grant Nolen. Attending the couple were Miss Barbara Marek and Maynard Hogan.

The quartet took every precaution to keep the wedding a secret, nevertheless when they emerged from the C. R. Holms residence following the ceremony they found their car decorated with all the contraptions usually associated with newlyweds. The party proceeded to Antioch where a reception was held for 25 guests.

After a vacation trip to Missouri, where they will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cunningham, the couple will go to housekeeping on Lake street.

Mr. Kilpatrick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kilpatrick of Solon Mills. For the past two years he has been employed in the Antioch store of the A & P company.

Doris VanDuzer of Lake Villa is Bride

Uniting in marriage Miss Doris Van Duzer, Lake Villa, and Mr. Simon, also of Lake Villa, was a quiet ceremony which took place early this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon are now on a short honeymoon trip.

On their return they will be at home to their friends in the Fred Hamlin flat in Lake Villa, where the bridegroom is employed at the Peterson shop.

SCHOOL PLANS SERIES OF TEAS

Grade Teaching Staff Will Sponsor First Gathering Next Tuesday

Parents of the first grade pupils at the Antioch Grade school will be guests at a tea to be held at the school at 3 o'clock the afternoon of Thursday, Sept. 22.

Teas for parents of the children in other grades may be held at later intervals throughout the year, according to present plans, it is stated by R. E. Clabaugh, principal.

They are being sponsored by the teaching staff of the school to promote a closer understanding between parents and teachers with regard to the nature of the work in the different grades, and will feature discussions on such topics as "study habits," "the curriculum," and "reports to parents."

The general theme will be "What the School May Expect of Parents in the Different Grades of School."

Methodist "Fall Roll Call" Well Attended

"Fall Roll Call Sunday" at the Methodist church last Sunday was attended by the largest congregation since Easter Sunday. Four new members were received into the church at the 11 o'clock worship period, which was a Communion service. There was also a large attendance at the Sunday school.

The finance committee of the parish is making plans for the annual canvassing for funds, it is announced by the pastor, the Rev. Warren C. Henslee.

New members will be received into the church on Sunday, Oct. 2. This will be the last reception of members before the close of the conference year.

Grass Lake P. T. A. Will Meet Friday

The president, Mrs. Walter Gibling, will outline the aims and objectives of the Grass Lake Parent Teacher association for the year at its first meeting, to be held Friday afternoon, Sept. 16, in the school house.

A program by girls of the upper grades is to be one of the features of the meeting, which will open at 3 o'clock. Refreshments will be served during the social hour.

"Steps to Higher Americanism" will be the general theme for programs of the Grass Lake association this year.

Capt. Bradley Memorial Dedicated at Lake Villa

Dedication of a memorial lectern honoring Captain E. L. Bradley took place at Allendale school, Lake Villa, on Sunday. Captain Bradley, founder of the boys' school and its director for more than 40 years, was killed last November when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing a street in Santa Barbara, California.

The school was originally begun as a choir boys' summer camp for the Riverside Episcopal church in Chicago, to which Captain Bradley came as a choirmaster in the 1890's.

It was at first located at Fox Lake, and was later moved to Cedar lake at Lake Villa.

Lake Villa Republican Picnic Well Attended

More than 5,000 persons attended the old-fashioned basket picnic sponsored by the Lake Villa Township Republican club last Saturday at Shermanwood park.

The outing opened at 11 o'clock in the morning. An indoor baseball game between the Republican county nominees and the Lake Villa team was a highlight of the afternoon, with the girls being pronounced the winners.

Next Sunday a beef barbecue and get-acquainted for Young Republicans of the Tenth Congressional district will be held at the Simpson farm at Wadsworth.

ALL IN READINESS FOR GOLF TOURNEY AT CHAIN O'LAKES

Large Attendance Indicated
by Advance Registration for Event Saturday

Foursome play in the morning, tournament play in the afternoon and a dinner at night is the program for the annual/invitational golf tournament to be held by the Chain O' Lakes Country club Saturday.

The presentation of prizes will take place at the dinner.

Brandt Is Chairman

William E. Brandt heads the tournament committee.

Officers of the club are E. M. Ruyard, president; J. E. Brook, treasurer, and Ed J. Vos, secretary.

Fred Hawkins is club manager and professional.

Sixty entries had already been received for the tournament up to this noon, and a total of about 170 are expected altogether, according to Hawkins.

Last year's tournament had an attendance of 130.

AMUSEMENTS

BLACKSTONE AT KENOSHA

An opportunity to see one of the greatest living magicians of the day will be afforded people of the Antioch region when Blackstone, hailed as one of the few worthy successors of Houdini, comes to the Gateway theater in Kenosha to give stage performances Friday and Saturday.

Although the name of Blackstone has been headlined on theatre marquees and in vaudeville news for years, his success is attributed to the many new magical phenomena he offers year after year.

Blackstone has not been in Kenosha for more than four years, but he has made yearly visits to Chicago and Milwaukee which have kept his name before theater-goers in this vicinity.
